Thembalami means 'My Hope' and this is a true reflection of what Rand Aid offers at its care centre, as residents have the opportunity to find new hope and meaning in a caring environment.

The Thembalami Care Centre is situated in spacious grounds and caters for 180 older persons who are in dire need of 24-hour nursing care. The accommodation consists of double or single rooms that are all north facing. Two double rooms are linked to a shared bathroom and all single rooms are en-suite. These may also accommodate couples comfortably. The upstairs rooms have access to a veranda, whilst the ground floor rooms lead directly onto the garden. Residents are encouraged to create a homely atmosphere by bringing items of sentimental value, such as a favourite picture or even a comfortable chair for the veranda. Visits by family and friends are welcomed and regular family days are organised to increase contact with loved ones. Residents are encouraged to remain active for as long as possible, therefore a range of activities, that include regular outings, entertainment and participation in crafts and hobbies are offered.

Rand Aid, a registered South African non-profit organisation, serves a dual purpose. Quality accommodation for the discerning retiree - which provides a portion of the funding needed to carry out its welfare work - assisting the aged in need, and people suffering from substance abuse.
